DETAILED ACTION

1. This is in response to the amendment filed on 18 August 2005.
2. Claims 1-19 are pending in the application.
3. Claims 1-19 have been rejected.

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-19 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Double Patenting

5. Claims 1-4 and 11 provisionally rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1, 2, 4, 5 and 11 of copending Application No. 09/618,765. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because it is obvious for a disk drive to have executable code.

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.

Allowable Subject Matter

6. Claims 1-19 are allowed.

As to claim 1, prior art does not disclose, teach or fairly suggest selecting a network address for the content delivery server. Prior art does not disclose, teach or fairly suggest selecting a server-contacting program. Prior art does not disclose, teach or fairly suggest storing the network address and the server-contacting program in the disk drive. Prior art does not disclose, teach or fairly suggest the execution of the server-contacting program includes using the network address for connecting the personal computer system to the content delivery server. Prior art does not disclose, teach or fairly suggest sending user information to the content delivery server while the personal computer system is connected to the content delivery server. Prior art does not disclose, teach or fairly suggest receiving content from the content delivery server. Prior art does not disclose, teach or fairly suggest displaying the content on the display device. Prior art does not disclose, teach or fairly suggest installing firmware in the disk drive to initiate execution of the server-contacting program after the disk drive is connected to the computing subsystem in the personal computer system.

As to claim 11, prior art does not disclose, teach or fairly suggest a computing subsystem. Prior art does not disclose, teach or fairly suggest a disk drive connectable to the computing subsystem. Prior art does not disclose, teach or fairly suggest that the disk drive comprises a network address and a server-contacting program. Prior art does not disclose, teach or fairly suggest a disk controller circuit in the disk drive that, upon the occurrence of a selected condition, determines to initiate execution of the server-contacting program after the disk drive is connected to the computing subsystem in the personal computer system. Prior art does not disclose, teach or fairly suggest that execution of the server-contacting program includes using the network address for connecting the personal computer system to the content delivery server.

Any claims not directly addressed are allowed on the virtue of their dependency.
